THE SPIRIT OF CATO

COLONEL ROOSEVELT'S ATTITUDE IN THE DEATH OF SON RECALLS ADDISON'S LINES

Tropico, Cal., July 18,
115 N. Glendale Ave.

Mr. A. T. Cowan,
Editor Glendale News.

Dear Sir:

The appended extract from Addison's Tragedy of Cato is, I feel, the expression of Col. Roosevelt's spirit in the loss of his noble son, who gave his life valiantly to keep the light of liberty in the world. The melody of these syllables from Horace has always been a delight to me: "Dulce et decorum est pro patria mori"—It is sweet and glorious to die for one's country.

With respect,
F. LEE CHAUVAN.

Cato (meeting the body of his son):

"Welcome, my son! here lay him down, my friends,
Full in my sight, that I may view at leizure
The bl ody corse, and count those glorious wounds.
How beautiful is death when earned by virtue!
Who would not be that youth? What pity is it
That we can die but once to serve our country!
Why sits this sadness on your brows, my friends?
I should have blushed if Cato's house had stood
Secure, and flourished in a cruel war.
Portius, behold thy brother, and remember
Thy life is not thy own when Rome demands it."

LETTER TO HAROLD JANSS

Characterizing as unfriendly to the government attempts by stock salesmen and promoters to exchange stock for Liberty Loan bonds, Governor Lynch of the Twelfth Federal Reserve District has notified all Liberty Loan State and County Chairmen to report immediately full details of any such activity in their territory.

Governor Lynch's letter to the Liberty Loan Chairmen follows:

"There has been reported to us very considerable activity by stock salesmen and promoters, principally those representing companies whose securities are utterly worthless, in efforts to exchange the stocks they are issuing for Liberty Bonds.

"This practice is specifically disapproved by the Treasury Department and we shall be compelled to characterize any continuance of it as an act unfriendly to the Government.

"If any such cases come to your notice, please write to me promptly, giving name of company issuing stock which is being offered, its address, name of the salesman, and of the officers of the company if you can get them."

TRAINING FOR WAR

STRENUOUS WORK AND EXCITING EXPERIENCES IN BORDER COUNTRY

Neal Wells, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Wells of 328 South Maryland avenue, writes from Presidio, Texas, that training for active war duty is strenuous business with the thermometer at 102 in the shade. With hours of drilling each day, horses to groom and other such energetic routine duties to perform, all in the sizzling heat, preparation for war becomes a serious undertaking. Neal is spending most of his working hours, however, wrestling with an obstreperous engine on which depends the water supply of the camp. For Neal alone will it behave itself, which keeps him pretty closely on the job, one which was intended as a turn-and-turn-about duty. After others of the soldier boys had been detailed on the task repeatedly, with the invariable result that Neal had to be called in to coax the wheel to go 'round, the officers in charge decided that for some mysterious reason the unreasoning mechanism had sworn allegiance to him and him alone, and that only under his constant vigilance would its subjugation be complete. Therefore Neal bosses the engine, though he prefers some of the out of door tasks, which include the many miles of cross-country riding which fall to the lot of cavalry men. He has had many interesting experiences along this line, too, having been lost in a severe storm while carrying the mail for camp across mountain trails, among other exciting occurrences incident to camp life in the border country.

WEATHER FORECAST—Fair tonight and Sunday. Light northwesterly winds.

WILL GO NORTH

MRS. KNOCHE AND MRS. MILLS WILL JOIN THEIR HUSBANDS AT PORTLAND

Mrs. Robert Knoche, formerly of 1426 West Fifth street, who has been quite ill at the Burbank hospital, is now at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Zerr of 141 Cedar street, with her four weeks' old son, Robert Knoche, Jr. Mrs. Zerr expects later to join her hubsand, who has gone to Portland to accept a position in the ship building yards. With Mr. Knoche is Dick Mills of 1556 Myrtle street, who also will be joined by his wife, with their two small children, as soon as accommodations for the family can be found within reach of the ship building yards. The party, in which there were several others from Los Angeles, went up the coast by machine and report a strenuous time, with six punctures and a blow-out in addition to more serious machine trouble before reaching Sacramento. However, their destination was finally reached in safety, according to letters received.

EXTRA COPIES EVENING NEWS

On account of orders having been received from the headquarters of the government to print only the number of newspapers needed to supply subscribers each day, only a reasonable number for counter sales will be printed. Persons wishing to purchase a dozen or more copies of any issue should give the order for them before we go to press with the issue wanted. It is the wish of the Evening News to serve the wants of the people, but in doing so we must comply with the law.

MOONLIGHT PICNIC

The party given by the young people of the Baptist Church in the canyon at the home of Bert Marple, of 322 Boynton avenue, was enjoyed by probably 50 young people who took part in the wienie roast over a big bonfire, with all the attendant trimmings. The ravine was made bright with Japanese lanterns, and rang with songs and merriment till late into the night, with the alluring odor of coffee and "not dogs" adding to the attractions of the spot.

BUYS A HOME

Prof. Charles E. Poore, of 1543 Salem street, science teacher at the Glendale Union High School, has bought the house at 1548 Pioneer drive, where he expects to make his home. Prof. Poore is now making extensive improvements and expects to move into his new home after the completion of the remodelling. The house was purchased from a Mr. Carrington of Chicago.

RESPONSIBLE TO THE GOVERNMENT

Every publisher of a newspaper sending out copies of a paper under new ruling of the councils of war is held responsible for the money due for these papers, and likewise the person who allows a paper for which he is not paying to be delivered at his home is also responsible to the powers that be for wastefulness.

The time has come when war councils are asking that all waste of paper be discontinued. The same rule hereafter will govern the distribution of hand bills about the streets in a careless manner.

ANNUAL PICNIC OF INDIANA SOCIETY

The Indiana State Society will have its annual basket picnic at the picnic grounds in the southwest corner of Exposition Park, Los Angeles, Saturday, July 27th, to which all Hoosiers and former residents of Indiana will be welcome. Plans have been made to make it the largest and best picnic ever given by the Society. Free coffee will be given to those buying badges.

The following program will be given at two o'clock:

Welcoming address by the president, G. C. Thornberg.

Selections by the G. A. R. Glee Club.

Patriotic address by Deputy City Prosecutor and Hoosier, Wm. D. McConnell.

Songs, "Your Mother Is Thinking of You," and "Dear Old Dad," by the original composer, R. H. Mouser, the patriotic poet better known as "Bill Stinger."

Community singing, to be led by the celebrated soloist, Mabel Cushman, who will also give special selections.

A special feature will be county registers, which will be posted throughout the grounds.

ALLIED ADVANCE CONTINUES

FRENCH AND AMERICANS CONTINUE TO PRESS FORWARD ON GREATER PART OF AISNE-MARNE FRONT

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

PARIS, July 20.—The French and Americans continue to advance along the greater part of the Aisne-Marne front, capturing Neuilly-St. Front, Melloy wood and Licy-Clignon.

South of the Marne the allies hurled the Germans back on a fifteen-mile front, gaining ground toward the Marne.

BELIEVE SAN DIEGO TORPEDOED

MYSTERY OF THE SINKING OF U. S. BATTLESHIP IS BEING INVESTIGATED BY NAVY DEPARTMENT

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

WASHINGTON, July 20.—That the cruiser San Diego was torpedoed is the "belief" the captain expressed in his report to the Navy department today. The government is still striving to clear the mystery of the vessel's sinking.

The fact that no periscope or wake of a torpedo was seen and that vessels near were not damaged tends to discount the submarine theory, while the fact the vessel was struck on the aft-port side discounts the theory that she was hit by a mine. Officers are positive the ship was not sunk by an internal explosion.

American vessels destroyed several mines in the vicinity where the San Diego was sunk, last night.

The San Diego was doing fifteen knots an hour and the sea was smooth. Her wireless was destroyed by the explosion. Several guns were still in order after the explosion and these were fired at a barrel which the crew mistook for a submarine. The vessel was abandoned in perfect order, the crew upholding all traditions of the sea. They left the ship without confusion and Capt. Christy, the last to leave, leapt into the sea as the San Diego turned over. The men cheered and sang "The Star-Spangled Banner." He was rescued by a launch.

The San Diego's crew numbered 1250. It is believed a few were killed by the explosion, but this will not be definitely known until a check is completed.

GERMAN RESISTANCE STIFFENING

DESPERATE BATTLES ARE IN PROGRESS ALL ALONG THE LINE OF THE ALLIED OFFENSIVE

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

WITH THE AMERICANS ON THE AISNE AND THE MARNE, July 20.—The Americans attacked on a considerable front southwest of Soissons last night. The most action was east of Couevres. Continued German counter attacks near Soissons were repelled. French and Americans progressed north of Chandon and east of Vierzy.

A desperate battle has developed for important positions on the Chateau-Thierry-Rheims highway. The Germans reinforced are striving to stop the advance. The element of surprise that characterized the beginning of the drive is no longer present and the fight is man to man and gun to gun.

The fight is raging south of Soissons through grain fields and woods. The Germans are attempting to stem the allied bombardment and are rushing men and guns to the front.

Bitter fighting is under way on the entire offensive front. German resistance is stiffening, some towns having changed hands two or three times.

WAR SITUATION IMPROVED

ALLIED OFFENSIVE WARDS OFF GERMAN THRUST AT EPERNAY AND ENDANGERS ENEMY SOUTH OF MARNE

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

PARIS, July 20.—The French and American advance on the Aisne and Marne front has improved the general war situation.

The Germans are pouring in their reserves which were being held back for the supreme effort.

With half the campaign season of the year past, the thrust toward Epernay has been definitely warded off. German divisions south of the Marne have been placed in perilous positions.

The moral importance of this phase of the war is allied initiative.

GERMANS RECROSS MARNE

ADVANCE OF ALLIES TO CHATEAU-THIERRY-RHEIMS HIGHWAY CAUSES ENEMY TO RETIRE

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

WASHINGTON, July 20.—The Germans have been forced to retreat across the Marne.

This action followed the French and American forces nearing the highway between Chateau-Thierry and Rheims rendering Chatelon-Sur-Marne untenable for the enemy and forcing them to recross the river.

THIRTEEN MEN ENTRAIN

LOCAL EXEMPTION BOARD WILL SEND CONTINGENT OUT ON MONDAY

Thirteen men of class one are to be sent to Camp Lewis on Monday by the local Exemption Board, leaving from the Southern Pacific depot in Los Angeles at nine o'clock in the morning under the captaincy of Francis L. Sherwood, of the Pioneer Paper Company. The other men are:

Walter G. Anderson, La Crescenta.

Charles Edward, registered from Lankershim, now of 3466 Arroyo Seco, Los Angeles.

Leopold Chacanaca, Saugus.

Teddy Anderson, San Pedro.

Lewis Ortego, San Fernando.

Ralph R. Brown, Calabasas.

Ezra D. Mosher, Ontario.

Irwin W. Gruhl, Los Angeles.

Anton M. Hansen, 1440 Vine St., Glendale.

Three more men in this same call will entrain at the towns in which they are now living. They are:

Clarence Eugene Rice, Visalia, Cal.

Martin H. Mathison, Bisbee, Arizona.

Archibald Thomas Lyon, Morgan City, Utah.

Chairman Lanterman says that the only men remaining of class one and still to be called through this board are of the agricultural class. He also gives the names of two boys of the 1918 class who have failed to fill their questionnaires and states that any friends of these boys who may know of their whereabouts would be doing them a favor to notify them that this board is their place of registration. They are: Leonard Cart and Elmer Stratton.

Chairman Lanterman states, too, that there seems to be a considerable amount of uneasiness among the men of the deferred classes as to the work or fight rulings. Unless these men are absolutely certain that their present employment comes under the non-essential occupations, Mr. Lanterman says it is best for them to stay on where they are until notified by the board. In case a change is felt to be necessary by any of these registrants, it will be necessary to notify the board of any change of occupation and address.

SAVING TIME AND MATERIAL

Conditions are changing so rapidly in this old world of ours that a man must be a good sprinter to keep up with the most recent advices from governmental headquarters. The existence of unnecessary salesmen, peddlers and venders is being discouraged and people are advised to purchase articles formerly bought from peddlers from regular dealers. The former notion peddler is now expected to fill a useful position that will release some one for war duty.

Now the order comes to you in plain language, buy judiciously from established dealers. Dealers are ordered to cut out all publicity waste. The throwing about of printed matter in a promiscuous way is discouraged. Publicity is advised to be given through newspapers of authorized existence. Even newspapers must not be given out as sample copies as heretofore.

The American waste practice is being called to the attention of the people and it is well that it should be.

MRS. ANDREWS CONVALESCING

Mrs. W. L. Andrews, of 1552 Pioneer drive, entertained as her guest on Monday, Mrs. George Abbott of Santa Barbara, who returned to her home on Tuesday after completing a vacation trip in Southern California. Mrs. Andrews, who has been ill for the past six weeks, is again out and about, and is proud of the fact that on the very first day she was able to be out she sold $19 worth of tickets on the lot which is being offered by the Elks as a Red Cross benefit, following the donation of the $1500 property for the cause by Ezra Parker.

PHILANTHROPIC SECTION PICNIC

The Philanthropic Section of the Tuesday Afternoon Club, who have done such splendid work the past year under the leadership of Mrs. Warren Roberts, curator, enjoyed a picnic at Venice Thursday. About twenty ladies with the kiddies of their families motored to the beach city, taking with them Mrs. W. W. Ramsay, president of the club, as their guest of honor. All of the pleasure of the seashore were indulged in including a picnic lunch and surf bathing.

Give up your luxuries that the Kaiser may be made to give up his ambitions.

ACTIVITY AT DIANDO

PRESIDENT JOINS MARINE CORPS ROSCOE ARBUCKLE AND GALE HENRY COME TO GLENDALE

W. A. S. Dougas, President of the Diando Film Corporation, has joined the United States Marine Corps and will proceed to duty as soon as he has arranged his affairs. The business will be continued by Mr. Douglas' partner, Leon T. Osborne. With three brothers killed in the great war and with family obligations which give him more of an excuse for staying at home than most people, he still figured it was his duty to get in. Mr. Douglas is a veteran of both the British and United States armies. He served through the Boer War as a bugler boy, was wounded on the West African gold coast and was promoted from sergeant to lieutenant on the field: After one period of enlistment in the United States army he was honorably discharged as corporal. Twice rejected by the British and once before by the American recruiting authorities, he has at last succeeded in "putting it over."

The same goes for Jack Halloway, a director associated with Mr. Douglas at the Glendale studios. Recently Mr. Halloway's wife instituted divorce proceedings against him. Believing it his duty and rather than remain and contest the divorce he is leaving in about five weeks with Mr. Douglas.

Director Stuart Paton of Diando has started work on his second Western feature. The title is "The Death Trail" and the cast is headed by George Larkin and Betty Compson, who were the stars in the "Wolf-faced Man," a western serial Diando has finished for Pathe, and a six-reel feature with the same two players called "Texas Rose."

"Sunny Sammy," the little colored comedian who has been supporting Baby Marie Osborne in her late pictures, is the featured star in a two-reel comedy recently completed at the Diando studios.

A fight that is different will be the big punch in the latest Western feature Director Paton is making for Diando. More than two hundred and fifty extras were used in the dance hall set for this picture for five days last week. The set is one of the biggest ever put up on the lot, being 300 feet long by 175 feet wide. All of these extras participated in the general scrap and it kept two physicians busy for several hours attending to the injuries. This is the second of a series of "Westerns" Diando is producing.

A post card received from Harry MacPherson, at present in training at Sacketts Harbor, N. Y., former assistant director with the Baby Marie Osborne company, conveys the information that after ten weeks' training he is now a d—d fine dish washer. Harry must have been a bad boy and given a lot of K. P. work.

Having completed his last picture at the old Balboa studios. Roscoe "Fatty" Arbuckle, the famous comedy star, will move his entire company and on Monday start production on a new story at the Diando studios in Glendale. While only a tentative agreement has been made between W. A. S. Douglas, President of Diando, and Lou Anger, business manager for Arbuckle, for the production of the first picture, it is expected that an arrangement will be made within the next week that will keep "Fatty" in Glendale for the production of all his pictures. "Fatty" acts as his own director and carries a large company. For the last two years he has been producing comedies for release by the Paramount organization.

After a vacation of more than three months, Gale Henry, the comedienne who gained a nation-wide

TAKES OVER BUSINESS OF DR. FLINT DURING HIS ABSENCE IN SERVICE

Dr. A. M. Duncan, 307 South San Fernando road, has taken over or leased the office and equipment of Dr. J. L. Flint in the Flower Block during his absence in service. Dr. Duncan is no stranger in Glendale. He has been located in the Tropico district over six years. He practiced in Los Angeles for eight years prior to coming here. On Dr. Flint's return he will endeavor to turn the business back to him.

Dr. Flint has received his commission as captain and will leave next Wednesday evening for Camp Fremont.

BYSTANDER'S REFLECTIONS

By "K."

While not stinting our admiration for the masterly manner in which President Wilson has met with and grappled the stupendous problems growing out of a world war, I think we should feel equal admiration for another and widely different character, who, by word and pen, almost unaided, and almost universally derided, persisted in warning the nation during the past four years, of the certainty of war with Germany and urged preparedness; who, though refused time and again the privilege of going across and fighting for freedom in any capacity where he could be used, would not allow this discourteous treatment to turn him from the duty he felt he owed his country and he nobly bade Godspeed to his four sons and a son-in-law, who volunteered for the fray. I refer to Theodore Roosevelt, in my judgment the greatest man in the world today in brain power and aggressive patriotism. While not in sympathy with some of his violent utterances and writings, nor of his seeking a third term in the Presidency, yet I cannot withhold my meed of praise for his persistence in following up, almost alone, for four years, his purpose of warning the country of its extreme danger from the conscienceless Hun, and his fortitude in sustaining the loss of a noble son, his youngest, whose gallantry and daring he had a right to glory in.

Reading of the imminent capture of blood-stained Soissons recalls to a student of history another episode in the career of this famed city. In about the year 500 A. D. Clovis, King of the Franks, with dominions extending from the Rhine to the Somme and subjects of both Frank and Teuton origin, captured and spoiled the ancient city of Rheims, destroying its cathedral. Among the spoils was a very costly vase, which Clovis desired to appropriate for his own when the division was being made at Soissons. His chiefs opposed him and one of them, to end the controversy, destroyed the vase with a blow from his battle axe. Years later Clovis holding a review of his subjects found fault with this chief and threw his battle axe to the ground; as he stooped to pick it up, Clovis dashed out his brains with his own weapon, exclaiming: "Thus didst thou to the vase at Soissons."

I am glad to note the apparent success of the campaign against the iniquitous loan sharks, but there is another evil of an extortionate nature that should be abolished for it takes tribute from thousands while the loan shark mulcts but hundreds. I refer to the land title law, which requires fees from both sides in every transfer of real estate, amounting to from $10 up to hundreds. How such a measure was ever fastened upon a free people is a mystery. Systems like the Torrens, which require less than $2.00 for most transfers, are bitterly fought by many who suffer from the effects of the old title law. In most Eastern states property worth $10,000 can be transferred for an expense of 25c to $1.00 for the seller and 75c for recording the deed, to the buyer.

THE CANYON SELDOM SEEN

Most visitors to the Grand Canayon see it only from the rim; a small proportion take the extra day to descend to the river, and still fewer the two days necessary to spend a night in its depths. But it is necessary to see the canyon from within if one is to have even a superficial idea of it. The rim view is noble in the extreme; it is inspiring, to some even terrifying; to all it affords an emotional experience whose memory remains for a lifetime. But, after all, it presents only one aspect of very many, for the great gulf offers sensations of infinite variety.

For this reason there is probably no great place in the world seen by so many and known to so few. The Supremacy of the Grand Canyon in the world's scenic gallery is universally acknowledged. Not far from a hundred thousand persons visit it annually. The boundaries proposed for the national park which Congress is now considering inclose about a thousand square miles of a magnificence which phrase and photograph fail even to suggest.

The fact that so few who visit the Grand Canyon really see it grows out of the public disposition to consider it a side trip of the transcontinental journey. People planning to spend weeks or months at the Pacific resorts accept the popular misconception that "the canyon can be done in a day or two" en route. Many leave it with some realization that they have merely looked in through a crack in the fence, but, with prearranged reservations, they naturally hold to their programs; besides, they argue, nobody else stays more than a day or two, so, in spite of appearances, that must be all it is worth; besides, hotel, carriage, and trail accommodations are organized on the idea that the stay will be brief. Thus the greatest spectacle of its kind, and many think of any kind, in the whole world has become a side show to a western vacation.

This colossal blunder naturally would cure itself in good time if the Grand Canyon could only be made as comfortable to live in as it is to stop in, and if its innumerable details were made comfortably accessible. Many visitors eat breakfast on the train coming and spend the succeeding night on the train going; they have "seen" the Grand Canyon in between. The excellent hotel, so charming to live in, if people would only live in it, almost suggests the hurry of a crowded street, so rushed is it with the visitors of a single night.

But, after all, there are two good reasons why the visiting public should not be charged with lack of appreciation. One is this general preconception that the Grand Canyon is a one or two days' spectacle. The other is that the private interests which have built the trails and otherwise planned the manner in which the public shall see it have adopted the same idea; it is natural that they should not invest more money in roads and trails than just enough to take care of the business that naturally offers. A man who, after he has spent one day on that part of the rim which is developed and one day going to the bottom of the Canyon, finds that further exploration involves expensive special equipment and special guides, and that the Canyon floor is unprovided with good lateral trails or more than the one camp; in other words, who plans an undertaking which resembles an expedition, must possess enthusiasm and a pocketbook beyond the usual.

Artists and leisurely travelers sometimes do this, but it is out of the question for the great body of busy Americans. Their turn will come when the Grand Canyon becomes a national park and is studied and developed for the special purpose of making its infinite treasures comfortably accessible to all. Meantime it is unreasonable to expect private interests to do more for the public than they find profitable.

Those who have lived with rather than glanced at the Grand Canyon become increasingly moved by its glories. It has inspired more literature and art than all the other scenic places of America combined. It is the center of a steadily increasing pilgrimage of painters. It perhaps may be said that the Grand Canyon and the region of which it is the climax inspire the highest as well as certainly the most extensive expression of landscape art in America today.

An interesting example of the way the Grand Canyon "gets" those who live a little with it is found in the technical, and to most of us the incomprehensible, reports of the Government topographers and geologists who studied it for years. Apparently in spite of themselves, these men to whom rocks and canyons are the grim business of life, often interrupt their dry technical pages by brief bursts of enthusiasm not inspired in the least by science, but by the pure emotion of sublimity.

WITH RAINBOW DIVISION

Ed Burlingham, one of Glendale's boys in the famous Rainbow division, which has been at the front in France since the first United States forces arrived for overseas service, writes to Mr. and Mrs. Clarence DeLane, of 1564 West Fifth street, that life in the trenches agrees with him splendidly as he has gained 15 pounds since leaving Glendale last August. His last letter received within the past few days tells many interesting details of the daily life of a veteran soldier of the American fighting forces.

Baseball and "the movies" are the chief diversions, which Mr. Burlingham was keenly enjoying at the time of writing, as he was taking a rest back in camp after active service in the trenches. He remarked on the odd experienec of being able to see "Fatty" Arbuckl in the quaint surrounding of a French village, looking just as fat and happy as in old U. S. A.

COLONEL CHOPS WOOD FOR GIRLS

By Miss Gladys McIntyre

(Written for the United Press)

WITH THE AMERICAN TROOPS AT THE FRONT, June 16 (By Mail)—One bright morning a few days ago just after we had awakened and before we had begun our work in the kitchen we heard some one chopping wood just back of the canteen. We were pleased, for we needed wood chopped, and it is always nicer to have some doughboy volunteer to do it than to have to ask.

I told my sister it must be the homesick doughboy who had said the day beofre that choppinig wood for us took him back to home and his mother. He said he felt better after chopping some wood. After a while we left our billet and went around to the kitichen. Who do you suppose was out there chopping the wood?

It was not the homesick doughboy, or any other doughboy, but the colonel of the regiment himself. We were too surprised to see him swinging the axe to know what to say, and almost forgot to thank him. He said he liked his new job, and accepted our invitation to have breakfast with us. But the doughboys all say he is encroaching on their rights, when he chops wood for us.

The homesick doughboy was an interesting problem to us. He had received no mail for four months from home, and read in a paper one of his pals had received notice of the death of his sister. His father is not living either, and the poor by could hardly keep from crying.

Of course we wanted to do something for him, but it is hard to help everyone like that, when you don't know them. We don't dare to show too much attention ot anyone, no matter how much he needs it, because it wouldn't be fair to the others. So we just put the homesick doughbody to work. He did everything we suggested, cut wood, fixed benches, fried doughnuts, and by the end of the day he was whistling and singing. Work seems to be the best thing we can give them when they are homesick.

PARKERETTES

By Samuel Parker

Roosevelt

Of iron will and nerves of steel,
Wist ye to say ye can not feel,
Beneath that cold external tome
Cold as the breath of arctic zone?
Relax and softer tones employ
In presence of thy dear dead boy,
A little trembling of the lip
Relaxing of that rigid grip,
And when so rudely forced to part
Increased pulsations of the heart.

Listen and hear them bravely say,
"He service rendered e'er he went away.
Makes life worth living when to live
To country's service sons we can give.
Our plans we shall not greatly change
A few minor details rearrange.
I shall make my convention speech,
An uplift lesson try to teach,
That all in every land may stand
For God and home and native land."

O, warrior of the iron will,
O, man of seeming outside chill,
How well we know of warmth and heat,
Storehouse of sympathy complete.
And brave boys fallen, others yet to fall,
Shall for our love and homage call.
The titled or the humblest never felt
More sympathy than from our Roosevelt.
Today you are a nation's pride,
No less so she there by your side.

Pension delay. I am glad that Mr. Kilborn called attention to this crying evil so rampant in our Civil War, but there is absolutely no occasion for delay in this war, so completely is everything systematized and organized and kept up to date. There is no valid reason why Pershing's dispatches announcing the death of a soldier over there should not be taken as a fact and pension papers issued at once to the legal claimants. We make great outcry, and justly, against the loan shark. When the pension is held from its rightful owner who may be suffering for it—what's the difference?

The Republican party organization inherently possesses the power to perpetuate itself and it requires no prefix, not even "patriotic" or "loyal." Give us the straight goods, Brother Cowan, and let the hyphen mixing be done when voting.

That was a close race, the shark and the Samaritan, the one to gobble, the other to save the widow's little home. The Samaritan won out; the Kaiser's partner, the shark, found it convenient to retire.

My appetite is of such size
It will not kindly Hooverize,
And yet 'twas plainly put to me
And I was fairly made to see
To win this war I must do with three
While having four.

But I must confess to you,
Keep it very quiet, do,
That having had enough to eat
For years too many to repeat,
I do not like to limit my hash
And have it made into sour mash
At wink or other potent command
Of the all powerful baron brewer band.

My stomach that to date has never held a drop of beer and kept from other liquors clear, and if sour mash deal is quoted true, a billion loaves of bread go into beer each year. Hoover has dinned into my ears a wheatless day. A meatless day is a familiar song, soon it will be eatless day, who can say? Turn the sour mash into bread. A billion loaves will go a long way. And where I felt the Hoover knife I might stand a better chance of again getting three slices where now compelled to get along with two.

We're America's Legions, for democracy we stand;
We are the offspring of free women, who were born in Freedom's Land.
We have come to form an army at our government's command,
To fight in the world's war for freedom.

CHORUS—
We'll rally in our might and go across the sea;
We'll never lay down our arms until the world is free;
We have left the farm, the workshop, the vineyard and the tree
To fight in the world's war for freedom.

We were born in America, that great land of the free;
We have been taught from childhood to stand for liberty;
And we'll not forget the lessons we learned at Mother's knee.
While we are fighting for freedom.

We are just a bunch of brothers, we reach from sea to sea;
The motto on our banner reads: Set the whole world free!
We'll put an end to one-man rule by whipping Germany.
Just to show the world we stand for freedom.

So goodbye, sweet mothers, we will kiss your faces dear,
Your boys will meet the enemy without the least of fear;
And when the enemy's conquered we will offer up three cheers
For the flag that stands for freedom

Dr. C. Irving Mills is to preach in Christ church, corner of Twelfth and Flower streets, Los Angeles, tomorrow, at the 11:00 o'clock service.

Mrs. Mary Pitner and her daughter, Mrs. Winifred Taggart, with Mrs. Taggarts' two children, left on Wednesday for a month's vacation at Sunset Beach.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest E. Koerschgen, of 1660 West Colorado street, are the proud parents of an 8-pound son, born July 18th. The small newcomer is the second child, the first being a little girl.

Mrs. Rachel Kirby, who has been stopping with Mrs. J. W. Andree, of 1562 Pioneer drive, for the past three months, leaves today for her home in Pasadena.

Mrs. Glenn Hinkle, of 1561 West Fifth street, who has been quite ill at her home for the past few days as the result of a slight operation, is gaining strength and now seems well on the road to recovery.

Mrs. Ray Bentley, of 1446 Hawthorne street, is entertaining as her house guest Miss Viola Brister, of Lindsay, Cal. Miss Brister arrived in Glendale on Tuesday and will be with Mrs. Bentley until some time next week.

Mrs. G. S. Hoffman, of 214 Stanley avenue, has received word that her son Elmer has arrived safely at a foreign port. He has been stationed at Fort Meyer, Virginia, with the 37th Engineers, Company F, and left for overseas service on July 1st.

Mrs. Andrew P. Findlay, whose home is at Tenth and Central avenue, is reported as recovering nicely from an operation which she underwent at the Angeles hospital in Los Angeles the early part of this week. Mrs. Findlay will probably not return to her home before another two weeks.

Elder E. E. Francis, formerly pastor of the Glendale Christian church, but for the past two years in charge of the Perry, Mo., congregation, has been called to the church at Great Falls, Montana, at a salary of $2000 a year. He has sent his wife and the two boys to Eureka, Ill., to visit her parents while he drives through in his machine, a distance of 1600 miles.

The referenec made yesterday in the News to the fact that the son of Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Wells, of 1504 West Broadway, had left for San Francisco, from where he would go to Camp Fremont, Virginia, to take up work at the officers' training camp, was mistakenly credited to Mr. Charles Wells instead of his brother, Clarence F. Wells. Charles Wells expects to leave for service soon, while his brother has already left.

L. W Bosserman leaves Sunday morning for his annual business trip and visit with relatives in the east. His destination is La Porte, Indiana, his former home. Mr. Bosserman goes over the Salt Lake route via York, Nebraska, where he will spend a few days with the family of Dr. George Shidler, Mrs. Shidler being a sister of Mrs. Bosserman. He expects to be absent from Glendale about a month.

Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Bode, of 306 Orange street, entertained on Friday evening with a farewell dinner in honor of Miss Rosalda K. Mattison, of Pasadena, a very dear friend of their daughter, Miss Anna Bode. Miss Mattison has been called into the service as a Red Cross nurse and left on Saturday morning for some eastern point, her destination being as yet unknown. Miss Bode has enrolled for the same service and is expecting her call hourly. Those at the dinner, in addition to the host and hostess and their daughter, were Miss Mattison, Mr. and Mrs. J. Mattison nad Master Ralph Mattison, and Charlies Glass, all of Pasadena.

CASE OF APPENDICITIS

Little Merle Kahler, well known in Glendale as a pupil of Mrs. Pearl Keller and who with his sister Merna has recently fulfilled a 16 weeks' engagement on the Pantages circuit, was taken very severely ill yesterday at his mother's apartments in Los Angeles and was rushed to the Clara Barton hospital late yesterday evening, where he was operated on at 12:30 for appendicitis. While he is still a very sick boy, the physicians in charge feel that he is doign as well as possible.

Merle has been feeling very badly since a fall he had on Monday while playing with a group of Tropico boys during a visit his family was paying Mrs. Keller. His illness was laid to this cause throughout the week until his suffering became so intense that it was decided that there must be some further cause than the slight injury he had sustained on that occasion.

Leslie's

Magazine says:—"Out of 100 men 100 die, but only 18 have life-insurance. Out of 100 buildings 96 are insured, but only one building out of 1300 is destroyed by fire."

Isn't it strange that we have to urge, and persuade, and persevere, sometimes almost beyond endurance, in order to get men to secure the thing which is the real end and aim of all their effort, and the benefit of which either their families or they, themselves, are BOUND to receive?

Fire-insurance is protection against a remote possibility—good life-insurance protects against the certainty of either death or old age. Fire-insurance is obviously, cheap. God makes the larger part of the life-insurance rate. If we lived to Methuselah's age, we could secure it for much less.

STATE NEWS

SANTA CRUZ, Cal., July 20.—Today's session of the Northern California Christian Church conference, which has been in session here throughout the week, was devoted to the work of the Christian Endeavor Societies. It was designated as Christian Endeavor Day. The Rev. H. A. Van Winkle of Oakland, President of the State Christian Endeavor Board, conducted the Christian Endeavor Conference. The day will be brought to a close with a basket luncheon and bonfire gathering on the beach. The conference will close tomorrow with the Rev. Frank G. Tyrrell delivering the sermon. He is the chief speaker of the week.

MARTINEZ, Cal., July 20.—The state railroad commission has granted the town of Martinez the right to buy the Port Costa water company's system, supplying the town, for $33,039.09

LOS BANOS, Cal., July 20.—The town of Los Banos, Merced county, has asked the state railroad commission for permission to buy the system of the West San Joaquin Valley Water Company supplying the town with water.

BERKELEY, Cal., July 20.—The Berkeley Superfluity shop operated by the Red Cross has just closed a most prosperous week. Among the contributions were a wedding ring 75 years old, a 50 year old Shaker bonnet and an Angora cat.

CAMP KEARNY, San Diego, Cal., July 20.—Practically the entire California draft contingent which arrived here three weeks ago, has been assigned to various units, having completed training at the recruit depot. The majority of the Californians are in the field artillery.

A NATION OF FINANCIERS

We stay-at-homes are attaining technicial proficientcy in the art of making war. At least we believe we are by reading the infinite details necessary to upper-cut the Boche.

Perhaps the Government Censorship lets us have only those methods that have been relegated to the scrap heap, but at any rate we are happy in thinking that we are up-to-date on the side-lines or the far-back-lines near the scoreboard.

We know that before even a local raid can be carried out there must be aeroplane reconnaissance to get photographs showing the lay of the Hun trenches, locations of machine gun pill-boxes and supporting strength; picked troops are sent back of our own lines for careful rehearsing; the artillery practices its cooperation in laying down the barrage; and after a certain period of intensive preparation zero hour arrives.

But knowing this we sometimes forget the work of the engineers in making the roads over which the ammunition and equipment are brought forward, the telephone men who must keep the lines of communication open, the warehouse officials of the quartermaster's corps, the soldiers who unload the big supply ships after they have wriggled through the submarine zone, the officers and the crew of the convoy and the people at this end of that line which meanders through France.

In financing the war we are given another technical education so that the poorest of us knows about billion dollar loans, sur-taxes, thrift stamps and certificates—for we have become money lenders to Uncle Sam. Now we are given a "close-up" of United States Certificates of Indebtedness which are for the public as well as the banks. A new issue is being offered every two weeks at 4½ per cent and absorbing these is as important to the success of the Fourth Liberty Loan as the advance preparation for a gigantic offensive. Get ready.

REPORT ON THE INVESTIGATION INTO DEATH OF MAJ. MITCHELL

The following statement is authorized by the Secretary of War:

The Director of Military Aeronautics has received from the Commander of Gerstner Field, Lake Charles, La., the following official report:

"The Board found that Maj. J. P. Mitchell, R. C. A. S., while flying a scout airplane, Signal Corps, No. 41,372, at Gerstner Field, Lake Charles, La., at about 8 a. m. on July 6, 1918, fell out of said airplane at an altitude of about 500 feet when said airplane nosed down sharply and was killed instantaneously. Said airplane was found about half mile south of hangar No. 24, a total wreck and Maj. Mitchell's body was found about 500 yards nearer hangar No. 24. The Board also finds that death occurred in line of duty and not the cause of his own misconduct. The accident investigation officer reports that safety belt was found unbuckled and intact with no evidence of any strain having been placed upon it. The fire extinguisher was found 70 yards from body on line with ship. Body bounded 10 feet in opposite direction to ship on line with it. The consensus of opinion of witnesses is that he failed to buckle safety belt and upon nosing over for glide was thrown out by the peculiar quick snap of the scout when the stick pushed too far forward.

"KIRBY."

PAYMENTS OF WAR INSURANCE COVER PERIOD OF 20 YEARS

The War Department authorizes the following:

Numerous inquiries have been received by the finance division of the Quartermaster Corps from relatives of enlisted men as to the method of payment of insurance benefits to the beneficiaries of those men who have become insured under the provisions of the war-risk insurance act.

Under the provisions of the act the beneficiary named does not secure the amount of the policy in a lump sum on the death of the insured, but receives a monthly payment from the Government as proceeds from the insurance. The payments cover a period of 20 years, or 240 months.

For an insurance of $1,000 the beneficiary would receive a monthly payment of $5.75 for 20 years. For the maximum insurance of $10,000 the beneficiary would receive a payment of $57.50 per month for 20 years. Insurance may be had in any amount from $1,000 to $10,000 in multiples of $500, and the policy is payable on the basis of $5.75 per month for each $1,000 of insurance for 240 monthly installments.

Proceeds from insurance of soldiers under the war-risk insurance act can not be attached, assigned, or otherwise taken by creditors.

HEAVIER AND WIDER ROADS NECESSARY

Increasing traffic on the improved highways due to war time conditions, emphasizes the necessity for building heavier and wider pavements. Improved roads in many localities where the traffic has abnormally increased, are rapidly wearing out and reconstruction will be necessary far in advance of the time when it was expected renewals might be necessary. In some instances this is due to lack of foresight. In other cases it has been the result of false ideas of economy. Many roads properly planned have been cheapened in order to make available funds cover a mileage which the type of paving adopted would not permit. Taxpayers would have been better served by constructing less mileage and building heavier roads.

The office of public roads of the Department of Agriculture is now endeavoring to impress upon public officials and highway authorities the necessity of planning and building roads adequate to meet all possibilities of traffic. In this campaign the office will have the co-operation and assistance of engineers and road builders, neither of whom desire to build inferior roads, or roads which they do not believe will be adequate to traffic demands, because they are often blamed for roads wearing out when the responsibility rests entirely with others.—S. W. Builder and Contractor.

These are exceptionally fine, of the best masters, and should be seen and enjoyed by a crowded church. Not a dry moment. Why go to the "movies" on Sunday night with your children simply for "amusement"? Bring them to the church where by these pictures they will get an impression for good that will benefit them all their lives. All welcome; always welcome. No charge. Simply come.

LA CRESCENTA

The water consumers of the Sierra Verdugo Water Company held a meeting at the school house last Saturday evening to discuss the water question. Mr. Spencer, the newly elected president, gave a resume of the situation and the conditions of the affairs of the company as well as of the pumping plant.

Another carload of ore from Perry Whiting's place is being shipped away.

Mr. and Mrs. Chester Shipman have moved to Los Angeles, pending more definite plans. Their home on Montrose avenue was sold to Mr. and Mrs. Forbes who are now busily moving in.

Buy your Thrift Stamps early. Remember what you pledged to do. Take your card to the postoffice when you buy so you and the local office will get the credit due.

Mrs. E. N. Nettleton has returned from a brief vacation at the beaches.

Miss Mollie Brown is spending a week or so at Alamitos Bay.

Mrs. Horn and Maie Caldwell came up from Long Beach for a short trip and hope to return and finish their vacationing at the same place.

Miss Gwendolin Claflin has left for Hemet with a unit of girls to work in the fruit conservation.

Dean Culberson is returned from his trip to Redlands. He reports a splendid time.

Mr. Hopping, who returned from the North quite ill, is able to be about again but is not fully convalescent.

There will be a picture show this Tuesday, Douglas Fairbanks in "The Half Breed." This is the story of a young man with a full-blooded Indian mother and British father. His troubles in England, where he was educated, in India and finally back at the old ranch in Montana. How he conquers all the troubles and rises above petty things, finds the right girl and marries her and settles down at the old ranch. It's a dandy show and well worth the seeing. Come along and spend the evening. It's cool, too. Have the fans running these days.

Fred Caldwell is receiving congratulations upon his recent marriage. Mr. and Mrs. Caldwell will be at home in Crescenta after a little while.

The Red Cross activities will be resumed in a short time. Mrs. Miller and Mrs. Ayers will announce the date to their respective classes as soon as they have taken up the new work at Pasadena headquarters.

A. H. Schultz is in receipt of a letter from his son who is in the 316th Signal Corps, from Camp Merritt, New Jersey, in which he says: "July 6. We are working all night, getting out equipment and hope to embark tomorrow. We'll soon be 'over there.' Will write as soon as I land and it can't be too soon."

Friends of Mrs. Voelker will be delighted to learn she was married last week. The happy man lives in Glendale and she may continue to make her home there.

"Buy Thrift Stamps to load the gun
That my boy may shoot the Hun."

Miss Florence Haugh, the teacher, was a visitor in the valley this week.

The La Crescenta Water Company is having sand traps installed on all the meters. This will help keep the meters clean and unobstructed.

The Carl Andersens, who have been away for some six weeks, have returned to their home place.

Mrs. Chas. E. Metz hopes to visit her home place, Carlsruhe, this summer. She resides in Omaha.

The T. C. Smiths have purchased a home and will move from the Darracq place shortly.

TUJUNGA

The Red Cross sewing bee was fairly well attended last week, but the duties of canning kept many away. Refugee work was taken up and other work finished. The salvage will all be taken to the school house and later the Pasadena Chapter will take it in. The monthly business meeting showed a very good report for work done. A basket of potatoes handed in by Mrs. Hilliard was raffled off, Miss Gilbert being the lucky one. It brought $3.60, pretty good price for potatoes.

Miss Bobbie Van Battum who went over to Lankershim with a number of the girls from Glendale High, found that after the old hands were taken on who worked there last summer there was no need at present for any more help, so she went to Los Angeles and there found a position more to her liking and will remain during the summer.

Don't forget the Senior Social Dancing Club's party on Saturday evening, July 20th. Everybody invited.

Mrs. Hardy and son Jack have been at their home the past week, returning to Los Angeles on Tuesday.

When some one tells you that you can not grow certain vegetables in your garden, don't believe it until you try out the experiment for yourself. One said you can not grow the sugar beet in Tujunga. So I planted two rows, and if they grow any larger or better in other sections I would like to see them. Another says no corn, but many gardens tried it out last year and again this, and the result is fine corn. Broom corn, sorghum and milo maize have been planted this year on trial and are doing fine. So never give up until you have tried and tried.

Miss Gertrude Van Battum has returned from her trip to Catalina Island.

Don Wieman and Carrol Parcher are both working on the Sespe ranch in Ventura country for the summer and like their work very much.

John Steen was a caller from Long Beach on Tuesday.

Mrs. Morgan and sister, Miss Alice Clark of Los Angeles, have been spending a few days with Mrs. Woodruff and hope to spend the month of August in Tujunga.

Mr. Wright of San Pedro has rented the Maxwell house. His wife and boy will remain all the time and he will be here week ends. Mr. Wright is inspetcor in the riveting department at the shipyards.

Again the colony is up against the proposition of how to stop the small boy from taking the fruit off the trees in different sections of the village. The parents do not seem to have sufficient control to stop them, so it is up to those who own the places to call on the Juvenile Court to see what can be done in the matter. The names of the boys are known, so the matter is easy. Let us hope the parents will take hold of the matter and not force the issue.

The following, taken from the La Jolla paper will be of interest to the residents of Tujunga:

Wheeler Cafeteria

The Wheeler Cafeteria is one of the most popular places on the coast and has just recently undergone a change of management, Mr. and Mrs. Haigh of San Diego purchasing the business from Mrs. Wheeler. The new proprietors are experienced in the business, having been engaged in that line of work in Los Angeles and San Diego; they like their new place and are succeedng very nicely. They have a knack for serving the public in this capacity, and the public already appreciates the service they are receiving, and the cafeteria is maintaining the excellent reputation which has been established by Mrs. Wheeler. The Journal is very much pleased to see them succed in their new venture.

Mrs. Webber, who is occupying Miss Gilbert's cottage, received a cable that her husband arrived safely "over there" and some days later a telegram of his safe return to New York harbor. These are strenuous times for those who spend their time on the transports crossing the Atlantic.

Mrs. Parcher's sister came up for a two days' visit from Los Angeles, returning Wednesday.

Mrs. Sapp, who has rented the Shumway house for the past fifteen months, will leave Tujunga about the first of August. All who have come to know her will regret her departure. The knitting squad loses a swift and perfect knitter. We all wish her the best of times wherever she may decide to locate.

Mrs. Fortinier left on Wednesday for Randsburg, where she takes a position in a hospital. Mrs. Fortinier has been in Tujunga for the past four years and hopes soon to return.

SUNLAND

Lee Clapp left Thursday to join the Army. Our boys go one by one as fast as they are old enough. There are nineteen stars on our service flag. This will make twenty. Every one leaving makes our desire stronger to do what we can here at home to help the Red Cross and everything with the object of winning the war.

At the First Baptist church Sunday the services were very impressive. The dedication of the church service flag with two stars for Paul Lancaster and Herold Ried was accompanied by appropriate exercises, special music and a very touching talk by the pastor, Rev. Wester. The church was well filled, showing the patriotic spirit of the people of Sunland.

Alfred Adams is having a carload of brick hauled to use in the improvements in his factory. Work will be completed in time to can the large amount of tomatoes grown in the valley. Mr. Adams is a hustler and we predict great things for this cannery. It will require quite an amount of help and this will bring more people to the valley. Everybody pull together and boost Sunland, which has the finest climate in Southern California, good mountain water and an elevation of 1500 feet. As a health resort it can not be excelled.

At a meeting of the Red Cross Wednesday the officers elected were: Mrs. Percey, chairman, and Mrs. Kirschman secretary and treasurer. The Chapter meets every Wednesday for work in the old postoffice building.

At the morning services at First Baptist church at 11 o'clock, Rev. Wester will preach and the church service flag will be dedicated. There will be special music. Everybody invited.

ACTIVITIES AT DIANDO

reputatoin through her five-year association with the Universal Company, has formed her own producing company. The first comedy will be started at the Diando studios next week. Bruno J. Becker will be the director and Milburn Moranti, who supported Miss Henry in her Universal and L-KO comedies, will play the principal male roles.

The Diando studio has suffered another loss through the war. Hugh R. Wood, who was born in London but who has lived in the United States for the last twelve years, left Los Angeles Thursday to enter the camouflage department in connection with the tank service in the English Army. Mr. Wood goes with a party of fifty Los Angeles Englishmen. He was given a rousing send-off by his fellow workers at the studio and was presented with a substantial money contribution by Baby Marie Osborne. Wood was the scenic artist at the studio and ranked very high in his profession, both in the legitimate and in pictures. He was connected for many years with the Charles Frohman organization and painted much of the original scenery for the massive Ben Hur production.

Norman Manning, former studio manager, also left for the front two weeks ago. He joins the Royal Air Force in Canada.
